COTTON CHAMPION

Fertilized his winning crop with Chilean Nitrate of Soda

INVARIABLY when the state cotton champion is named by the authorities, he proves a liberal user of Chilean Nitrate of Soda. Do you think this "just happens" every year? There is no "just happens" about it. He makes his record crop because he uses this wonderful nitrogen fertilizer. History proves it... 1928... '27... '26...'25... year after year Chilean Nitrate wins!

C. O. Mann

New Hope, Alabama Is declared the Cotton Champion of his state, having won the State-wide 5 Acre Cotton Contest for the 1928 crop. Yield made by Mr. Mann was 13,036 lbs. seed

Average yield per acre—947.8 lbs. lint

Chilean Nitrate is the natural nitrogen fertilizer not synthetic or artificial. It is the good old "Soda" that 800,000 farmers used last year. Put it under your cotton. This building was built by J. M.

The attendance increased until we were able to have a public school, and this called for a larger building.

38 New Plants Employing 8,500 Workers Came Into Our State In 1928

F IGURES compiled by the New Industries Division of Alabama Power Company reveal that Alabama's industrial development in 1928 was probably the greatest in her entire history. Here's what happened in the state last year: Thirty-eight new plants, representing 19 major industries, were established in 24 Alabama towns. These 38 plants represent a capital investment of over $35,000, They will employ 8,500 people, which means a population increase of about 30,000.

These industries will spend huge sums for construction materials such as cement, brick, lime, paint, iron and steel—most of which will be bought in Alabama. Their annual payroll, aggregating $7,800,000, will materially benefit business and help Alabama farmers. About 5,000 new families will receive support from industrial employment in these new industries. In-addition to the 38 plants, 33 cotton gins were located.

Working in co-operation with the citizens and civic bodies in every section of the state, Alabama Power Company is bending every effort to bring new in-dustries into our state. It shares the pride which every Alabamian must feel in the wonderful progress made last year, and hopefully looks forward to an even greater industrial development in 1929.

"Joe was funny, all right. We can learn from his experience, if we follow his "more milk" plan, and I believe our cows will pay better," says the local farmer who is interested in the dairy business at the Joe Guess play at the School Auditorium Monday night. Tell Joe's story of better feeding to your cows. They won't understand if you put it in the airs and words, but they will know what you are talking about if you put it in their feed box in Checkerboard Chows. They will tell it back to you with more milk in the pail. You don't need to guess whether Cow Chow pays best. Ask the fellows who are feeding it. They know. We will be glad to give you their names or show their extra profit figures on Cow Chow.

Let us show you how 100 pounds of Calf Chow saves 100 gallons of milk, and grows calves at One-fifth cost.

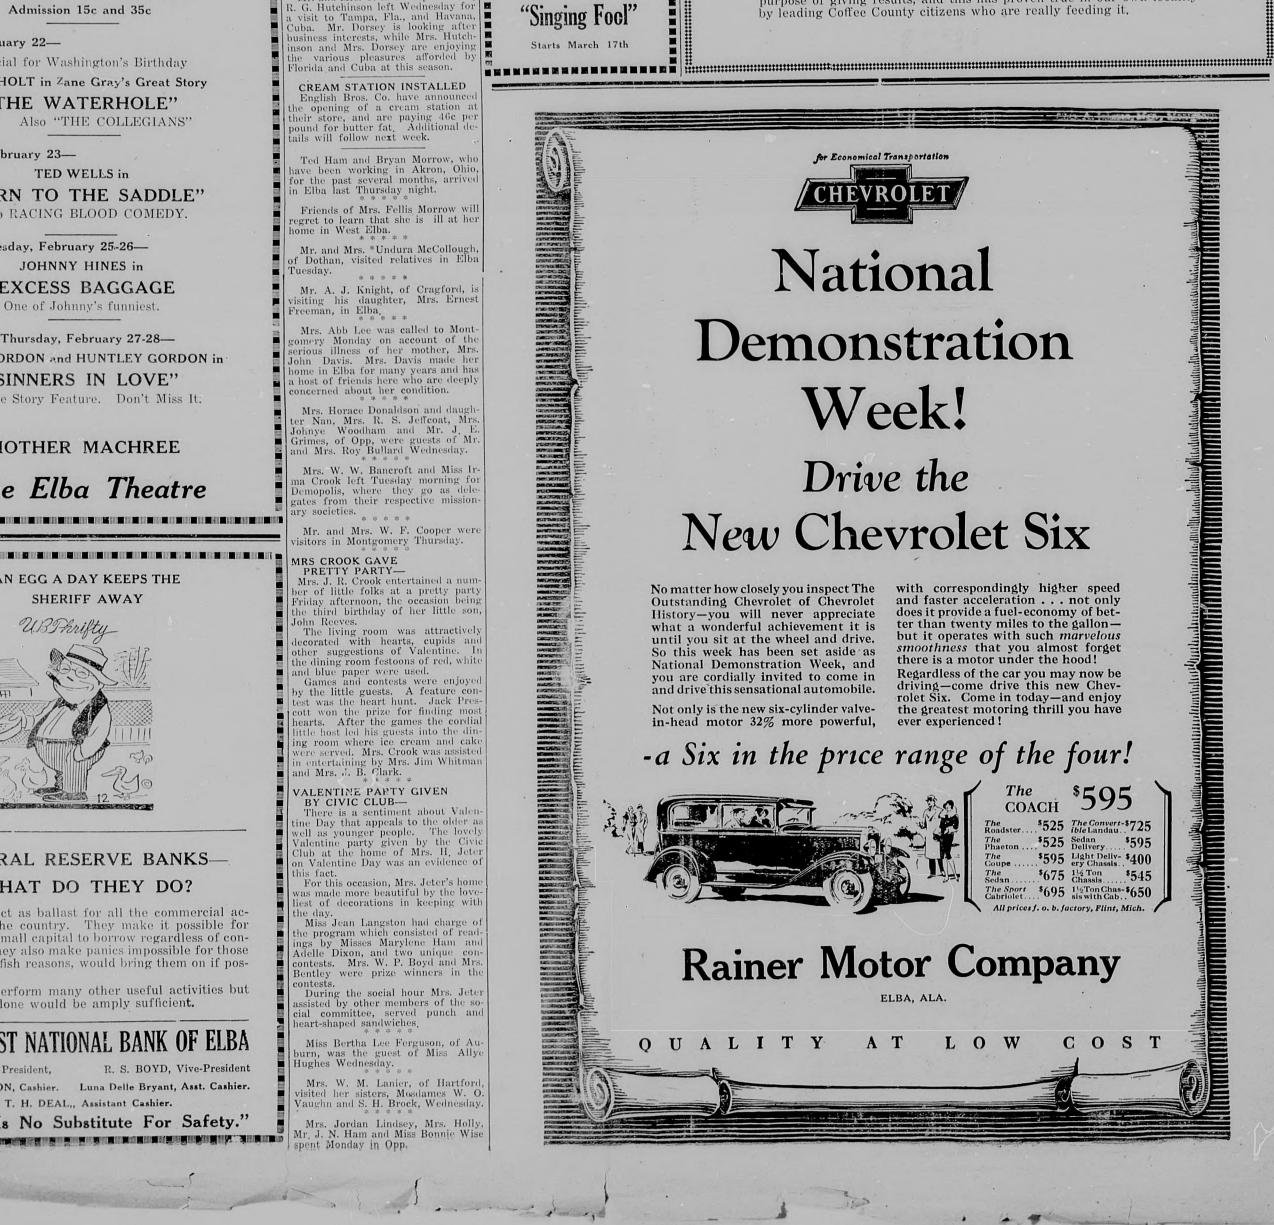

Let us show you how 100 pounds of O-Molene will take the place of 3 bushels of corn or 5 bushels of oats.

Let us show you how 100 pounds of Pig Chow and 10 bushels of corn will take the place of 24 bushels of corn.

Let us show you how Purina Laying Mash and Purina Hen Chow (Scratch Feed) will make you a net profit of $2.00 per hen per year. All of these feeds and supplement feeds can be secured at "THE STORE WITH THE CHECKERBOARD FRONT,"

E. F. BLOCKER ELBA, ALABAMA

The PURINA FEED MILL does not make feed for the purpose of disposing of by-products, neither does it make it for the purpose of meeting competitive prices, but it does make feed for the ourpose of giving results, and this has proven true in our own locality by leading Coffee County citizens who are really feeding it.
